Subject: Fw: Ron Carter Water Well was tested by DEP on the 14th and results listed below...

hi,
see letters below--
I am questioning the results of DEP and their test results of the emissions stack of [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] in Carter Rd., Dimock, Pa., Susquehanna County, Pa.; I made a video of the hissing sound ;
link for this video on youtube is:
<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LWYPOVwJdA0> DEP mentions a pump;
the well pump is disconnected as far as I know and does not make a hissing sound. can EPA please test this water well for methane emissions and any other pollutants from gas drilling; the Cabot Gas Well is 300 ft.+ from this water well.

thank you,

hi,
I complained to EPA and DEP about the water well of the [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] and the hissing noise I've been hearing the past month and worried that the methane level was too high?? the [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] are on Carter Road and in the polluted zone of Dimock, Pa. --

DEP went on the 14th of this month and tested and found methane at 1 % ;
see letters below;

can this be accurate based on what you found a month or two ago-- can it be tested by you or someone to see if DEP results and Cabot results corrolate with your results--

Some of us wonder on the accuracy of DEP results?!!

and the hissing sound I hear and others hear does not sound like a pump running-- there is no pump running in this unit-- is there a separate pump for the emissions stack?? the water well is turned off--disconnected from the house.

thanks,

Vera Scroggins

this is in opposition to recent test at the Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy with them present. they were not home on the 14 when DEP tested...I have spoken to the Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy today..this report is not at all accurate please do not regard as representative of the Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy water situation...
